Brown Bag Training Series: Export Controls

The UNM Office of Research Compliance is offering training opportunities on Export Controls during lunch time where faculty, staff, and student can meet the experts in research compliance and discuss hot topic areas that impact research activities at UNM.

Who should attend?
This series is open to Principal Investigators, Research Administrators, Contract and Grant Administrators, Chairs, Deans, Executive Directors and Students involved in research activities on behalf of UNM. *Seating is limited (10 max).

When and where will this training take place?
All of the trainings will take place from Noon to 1PM at the Office of Research Compliance, located at 1805 Sigma Chi Rd NE. Limited parking passes are available for street parking.

How Do I Register?
To ensure you have a seat for this workshop, please log into UNM Learning Central, search for “EXCTL” to see the available courses (EXCTL 100-102, EXCTL 200) and course dates. Click “Register Now” for the course date you would like to attend.

Who should I contact for questions about the Export Control Brown Bag Trainings?
If you have any questions, please contact Adelicia Gunn at export@unm.edu or 277-2968

EXCTL 101
EXPORT CONTROLS AT UNM
This training will focus on exclusions that allow us to conduct research without being subject to the Export Control Regulations while in the US.

EXCTL 100
CONDUCTING INTERNATIONAL RESEARCH
This training will focus on the risks associated with travel outside the US and how to mitigate those risks and things to consider for international collaborations.

EXCTL 200
EXPORT CONTROLS SCENARIOS
This case study based training will focus on ways to identify different scenarios in which Export Controls may apply to your research.